U of I officials refuse to ban CIA job recruiters

From The Register's Iowa City Bureau

IOWA CITY, IA. — University of Iowa officials Tuesday rejected demands from some students and faculty members to bar the CIA from conducting job interviews on campus.

"We believe that students are best served when provided the widest range of career options and that individuals should be allowed to decide for themselves which career paths to follow," said Philip Hubbard, U of I vice president of student services and dean of academic affairs.
